 2. Once there was a hedgehog who helped the animals and trees by sewing their clothes and leaves with her spines and the silk thread she get from the spiders. Once she had too much requests to answer them so she was moving fast towards her ravine because it was getting dark. When she reached there, there was already a wounded fawn and his mother. Doe scared after seeing her because the hedgehog has only one spine on her back instead of covered back. The hedgehog was very surprised. She said to Mama-doe that it was she ‘the hedgehog’. Mama-doe regreted. First time hedgehog felt very bad but she has no time to think about herself. She sewed the all hide of little fawn who was lying with closed eyes and moaning. The little fawn open his eyes. Now he was feeling better. He asked to his mother about the hedgehog. Mama-doe told him that it was the hedgehog who sewed his coat. He should thanked him. The hegdehog went away from there sadly. On the way a rabbit saw her and hid himself behind the bushes because of fear of this strange creature. The poor hedgehog could not bear it now. He blindly ran and hid herself among the roots of a tall, bushy fir tree. The fir tree knew all story about the hedgehog and help her. It began to shake his branches on his back. 2. Sudha's second goal was to meet the doctor in Jaipur who made artificial legs which were lighter and so flexible that anybody could climb trees wearing them.
 She went to Jaipur with her father to meet the doctor. Doctor said she could walk normally with that foot, but couldn't dance. Doctor made a special foot for her using aluminium which was light and could rotate easily. The new leg was more comfortable than the wooden but still not easy to handle. This goal was unrealistic because with the new foot she can walk easily but couldn't dance.
3. Her dance instantly gave Sudha the courage to set such a difficult task for herself.
4. Sudha faced many hurdles along the way. When she practised for dance with her artificial leg, a searing pain shot through her leg and the limb tore into her skin. It wasn't going to be as easy as she thought! But Sudha kept up her practice. Her leg would often bleed and if she moved her leg in quick tempo, the pain was killing. At the end of every dance session, Sudha would see her bloody leg and doubt whether her goal was realistic.
 After getting a new leg, Sudha started her practice again and pushed herself harder. Once again, she mastered her steps, understood the art of spinning on her artificial limb and finally leaping into the air and landing...bang on two feet.

5. Discipline, self-confidence and insanity for dance helped Sudha achieved her goals.
